Year End Reflections

JOHN GLENN STUDENT COUNCIL

Another year draws to a close. Another sixth grade class is sent to Jr. High. Once again we find ourselves looking back over the events of this past year. The year began with the introduction of a six-day cycle into our program. The six-day cycle was needed in order to schedule shared teachers between three buildings. The beginning of this year also saw a Gifted and Talented Program added to our curriculum as well as the introduction of computers to our elementary schools.

We no sooner opened our doors last fall when we were hit full force with the worst epidemic of head lice ever to confront a school. After emotions and tempers cooled, parents, school and country health officals banned together and wiped out the problem in time for our biggest and best Halloween Parade ever.

Carnival time proved once again that John Glenn's P.T.O. could break all previous records in fund raising. Through their efforts the Media Center saw an Apple IIe Computer and Printer added to it's equipment.

Christmas saw the traditional All-School Party funded by the P.T.O.

This year also saw some personnel changes in our staff. Joan Boeding took a transfer to the high school as nurse and Donna Goettsch became the new nurse on staff. Linda Holdorf joined the staff as Lunchroom Helper and after fourteen years of service as our building Secretary, Myrna Hayman left for the mountains of Colorado turning over the secretary's chair to Marlene Kaczinski. Mr. G. announced he would return next fall and our Superintendent resigned to take a position outside Chicago.

Our P.T.O. President Kay Peel gets ready to turn over her office to Mary Lou Engler and Chris Henzen will become Secretary-Treasurer and President elect.

Perhaps this year's fondest memories center around the John Glenn Campaign. These were several occasions: when students, staff and parents had the opportunity to meet Senator Glenn in person. There was also the visit of Annie Glenn to our school.

Yes, it's been quite a year and it is time send North Scott's Senior Class of 1990 on to Jr. High and High School. Good Luck and God's Speed!

MEET MATT GRILLOT

One of the special students who joined our school this year is Matt Grillot from Big Rock. Matt was hurt in an accident a year ago and has spent the last year recovering in the hospital. He is confined to a wheelchair and is in Mrs. Stokes room.

Last year he went to Wheatland School. Matt began school at John Glenn March 7th. Matt likes his new school and classmates.

Matt's favorite sport is baseball. He is proud of his new baseball hat with a red C on it. It stands for the Cubs, his favorite team. He is looking forward to seeing a game this summer.

JOHN GLENN'S SPECIAL SERVICE AWARD

This year's special service award was presented to Ken Schoenthaler, who has taught Tae Kaondo to students in activity class for the past several years. Ken is presently an executive officer of the North Scott Community Ed program. His help has always been greatly appreciated.

Annie Glenn's Visit

Annie Glenn made quite an impression on the school that bears her husband's name, and the school in turn, made quite an impression on the wife of the first man to orbit the earth and presidential candidate.

Annie entered the packed John Glenn gymnasium with a record player blaring and her own personal honor guard provided by the school's safety patrol.

She met members of the North Scott Community School Board, received a bouquet of flowers from the John Glenn Student Council, and spoke briefly to the students and parents who gathered to witness this historic day in the history of the school.

Annie Glenn spent time in a learning-disabilities classroom asking each student what problems they were working on. Mrs. Glenn has a serious stuttering problem that at one time prevented her from even making a phone call.

A portion of the program was devoted to questions prepared by student body. The student council selected 10 of the best questions and proposed them to Mrs. Glenn.

After the press conference Annie was entertained with songs sung by the entire student body, including the school song, which obviously proved to be very moving to the honored guest.

She was the most popular visitor we've ever had, and one that will be long remembered after other visits are forgotten about.
